New mayor for Elk Point - one day term

VICKI BROOKER
Review Staff

The Town of Elk Point will have a new mayor at some point this month, but only for one day.

Recreation coordinator Cristin Tchir brought forward a recommendation to give an Elk Point Elementary School Grade Six student the opportunity to become Elk Point's Mayor for a Day, learning more about local government as part of their social studies curriculum.

To be chosen as mayor, the students would write an essay on how they would change Elk Point to make it a better place to live. The writer of the chosen essay would shadow Mayor Lorne Young for a day that includes a council meeting, and develop and recommend a policy change that improves the community. The Mayor for a Day would also have a following, that of a student from EPE's Tiger News, who would report on the mayors' activities.

Council was happy to approve the idea and looks forward to seeing a young community leader in action.

High speed Internet

Tim Osterang, director of planning and operations for CCL Networks, an internet provider from Cold Lake, met with council during a closed session, with council later directing administration to put $50,000 into the town's 2020 capital budget for Supernet connections. The town is looking at partnering with a provider to improve the speed of internet for all residents and businesses in Elk Point, which is a planning priority for the town.

SPAA cross country athletes battle through the rain

JANICE HUSER
Review Contributor

It was a wet and dreary day for the St. Paul Athletics Association (SPAA) cross country championship event on Sept. 26, but the day ran smoothly, and organizers were pleased with how the race came together.

"Everything went very smooth yesterday," said F. G. Miller coach and one of the organizers of the event Jonathan Randall, Friday morning. "The weather wasn't great, but (it) definitely could have been much worse," he acknowledged.

This was the fifth year running the SPAA race out at Ross Lake, located east of Elk Point, and many of the same people have been involved in helping put on the race, year after year. The event draws in young athletes from schools across the SPAA division.

The 2019 race was one that will go down in history for a few of the athletes involved, including F. G. Miller Junior/Senior High School, out of Elk Point.

"The F. G. Miller junior high boys had a strong day, winning our first ever Junior High Boys Cross Country Banner," said Randall. "We have some really strong junior high runners and they trained hard in September, and it definitely paid off."

He noted the school also had three first place finishes throughout the day, which was great to see.

The effort put forth by athletes from St. Paul also didn't go unnoticed, as three female athletes set new course records on Thursday.

Kaitlyn Foote from Racette Junior High finished in first place in the A Girls category, setting a new course record of 13 minutes and 23 seconds for the 3,000 metre race. Her strong finish helped the Racette girls' team tie for first place at the SPAA championship. Tied with Racette was Glen Avon School.

St. Paul Regional High School took both the girls' and boys' banners for senior high. And two of the school's female athletes set new course records.

Brittney Cole set a course record in the Junior Girls' category, finishing the 4,000 metre race in 20 minutes and 17 seconds. Denver Graling also crossed the finish line with a new record, completing the 5,000 metre course in the Intermediate Girls' category in 25 minutes and 13 seconds.

Advertising bylaw

All three readings were passed for Advertising Bylaw 820/19 which follows the Municipal Government Act (MGA) and states that notices required to be advertised under Section 605 of the MGA of a bylaw, resolution, meeting, public hearing, are to be advertised electronically on the Town website, on any of the Town's official social media sites, posted on the bulletin board at the town office and publicly by posting a notice in the local newspaper for two consecutive weeks.

Lighting up

An unbudgeted $2,726.55 expenditure, including GST, for the replacement of three street light poles on 50 Street was approved, with the cost to be taken from the Public Works street operating budget.

Survey stands

A letter from a local resident with a long standing issue regarding the survey lines of a residential lot was discussed, an issue that Coun. Dwayne Yaremkevich said he "thought it had been resolved" in years past.

and one regarding which Mayor Young said, "The reality is, a survey is a survey," with Deputy Mayor Debra McQuinn agreeing, "It's out of our hands." Administration was directed to send the resident a letter explaining the circumstances.

APEGA

Mayor Young was given the go-ahead to attend the Association of Professional Engineers and Geoscientists of Alberta (APEGA) President's Dinner and Reception in Cold Lake on Nov. 7.

Water meter replacement

Administration was asked to “get the ball rolling” on advertising tenders for the replacement of water meters. Details of for the tender package were listed, including safety and work-alone programs and insurance requirements, and the price per meter installation, with CAO Ken Gwozdz recommending that the tender be “very specific.” He will bring back a modified document based on similar municipal documents.

Memorial trees

A Sept. 10 motion by Coun. Terri Hampson asking that a memorial tree project be researched by administration resulted in information on a gateway overlay and the need to prepare gateway design guidelines, and made Coun. Hampson ask, "Where did it morph into this?" when all she was looking at was some sort of guideline for those wishing to plant memorial trees.

Coun. Tim Smereka was "good with having something small," while the deputy mayor was "thinking more of a design." Because the trees were to be put along the median between the service road and the highway, the mayor noted that permission from Alberta Transportation to plant trees in that area might also be required.

The matter was deferred to the budget meeting.

Public auction

The public auction of four properties for tax arrears has been rescheduled to Nov. 4 at 10 a.m., after advertising for the original Sept. 18 date did not appear 10 days in advance as required by Municipal Affairs, due to the Elk Point Review missing the required deadline. The Review has apologized, Gwozdz said, adding that the rescheduled auction will be advertised as required. Owners of the four properties can still pay their tax arrears up to and including Nov. 4, prior to the sale time to prevent their property being sold.

Rezoning request

The owner of a parcel of land currently zoned as institutional/residential has requested that this zoning for the institutional portion of the parcel be changed to commercial, as the landowner plans to use it for a commercial business. The adjoining parcel to the north is zoned as C2 – Highway Commercial, and Elk Point’s Municipal Development Plan bylaw allows for C2 zoning along the Highway 41 corridor. Council gave first reading to Bylaw 821/19, making the change, with a public hearing scheduled for Oct. 15 prior to the final two readings.

Franchise fee

Elk Point's ATCO Electric franchise fee rate of 3.6 per cent is something "we haven't touched forever," Mayor Young told council, adding that the natural gas franchise fee has also remained untouched for years. With the average franchise fee sitting between four and five per cent, and ATCO's fee cap at 20 per cent, "we're on the lower side compared to other communities." Coun. Yaremkevich moved to raise the fee to five per cent, effective Jan. 1, 2020, and to advise the public by advertising on Oct. 1. The increase will boost the town's revenue by $22,163.41 next year.

ELK POINT REGIONAL ALLIED ARTS CHRISTMAS DINNER THEATRE

SOUTHERN FRIED FUNERAL

Dewey Frye is dead and the rest of his family is left to pick up the pieces - that is if they don't kill each other first. Not only does matriarch Dorothy have to contend with sudden widowhood, but she is also faced with church-committee harpy Ozella Meeks sticking her nose in the family business, Dewey's snake-in-the-grass brother making a grab for her house and two grown daughters reliving their childhood rivalry.

Funerals bring out the worst, the best, and the funniest in people, and the Fries are no exception. A big-hearted comedy about family - Southern-style.

Further Ed seeks local talent for courses

VICKI BROOKER
Review Staff

They may not have received their usual operating grant this year, but Elk Point and District Further Education Council is still up and running, with courses and activities underway and more on the schedule and in planning stages. Even more could be added in the future, if interest in either sharing a skill or learning one is out there.

One of the most popular activities is Charity Quilting, and the council was successful in obtaining a Community Initiatives Program (CIP) grant that will help to keep that going strong. One of the goals of CIP is to serve the disadvantaged, and this band of willing workers does their utmost to do just that. Further Ed also assists the disadvantaged through their partnership with the Community Lions Santas Anonymous program, which provides hampers of food and gifts to families in need each Christmas.

More cooperative ventures are currently being researched.

Another very popular session is the weekly Quilt Til You Wilt, which got underway Sept. 5 and brings together a group of crafters who share their knowledge of quilting techniques and patterns on a weekly basis as they create some outstanding and imaginative projects.

Fitness is also part of the Further Ed program, with the council's president, Sandra Cameron, once again instructing the Stretch and Tone course, which started Sept. 16 and is held at the library due to space restrictions in the Further Ed building.

Card making is another popular pastime, with the first of those courses slated for this Thursday and others getting an early start on Christmas preparations on Oct. 10, Nov. 12 and 16, with the Oct. 16 class, this one for youngsters 8 to 14, instructed by two of the council members.

Although Further Ed's focus has traditionally been on adult education, the council feels that community involvement opportunities exist among the younger residents as well, and will search out other opportunities to teach them some of the crafts their older counterparts enjoy.

Ideas for additional courses came forward during last week's Further Ed Council meeting, and coordinator Verona Lea Flanders has now added a series of painting classes by local artist

Shirley Kinneberg to the calendar, and is looking for other talented individuals who would like to share their knowledge with the community.

Those interested in teaching or learning new skills can call Flanders at 780-724-4101 or drop in at the office on 51 Street and 52 Ave. on Tuesdays and Thursdays between 10 a.m. and 3 p.m. to find out more about what Further Ed offers.

ALMOST COMPLETE - Quilt Til You Wilt participant Ruth Juravinski displays her twister quilt, made entirely of scraps, and all finished except for the binding.

Survey, more town halls added to rural crime tour

VICKI BROOKER
Staff Writer

Minister of Justice and Solicitor General Doug Schweitzer is seeking even more input on rural crime, by adding an online survey and more town hall meetings, including one in St. Paul, to his 'talking rural crime' tour.

After traveling around the province since Sept. 5 and meeting with residents, business owners, rural crime watch groups and officials at 1 town hall meetings from Medicine Hat to Fairview, Schweitzer has added another six stops to his tour, beginning tomorrow in Fort Saskatchewan and concluding Oct. 29 in St. Paul.

He has also added an online survey, available at alberta.ca/rural-crime until Oct. 31, covering topics such as community safety and policing and crime reduction initiatives, as he feels not everyone will be able to attend the meetings.

"I am thankful for everyone who has participated in our town halls and meetings. Your input is essential in helping our government create safer and more secure communities. While we are adding more opportunities across the province, we understand it will not be possible for everyone to participate in person. I encourage those who are unable to attend to complete the survey so your voice is heard," Schweitzer said.

EDITORIAL

How dare she?

She may have aimed her message at world leaders, but teenage activist Greta Thunberg made it sound like everything going wrong with the world was all our fault when she shrieked, "How dare you?"

Some of the world leaders may well deserve her wrath, but others are doing their very best to keep the world on an even keel, given what resources they have to work with, and don't deserve to be told they aren't doing enough.

Some, including Prince Harry and United Nations Secretary General Antonio Guterres agreed with her words the prince saying we "live in a very troubling world" and Guterres saying his generation has failed in its responsibility to protect the planet. Both of those statements ring true, but that still doesn't pile the responsibility on every government or the people of any country.

Many countries are doing their utmost to find ways to mitigate the effects of pollution, reduce harmful emissions and keep their populations safe and healthy. They don't deserve to be told they aren't doing enough by an extremely vocal young person who admits she should be back in school on the other side of the ocean. They already know that, and they're trying to do their best.

Did any of these nations steal her childhood or her dreams? That is unlikely. She appears to have put childhood behind her willingly, and to be realizing her dream of becoming an activist, something it seems she is very good at. If she were in a public speaking contest, it would be no contest for the others at all.

Thunberg is not the first to spread the message that, to use an old term, the world is 'going to hell in a handbasket.' Thousands have done so over the years, from scientists to Chicken Little, creating furor in their time, but we're still here, and still working on keeping it from happening.

RECREATION CORNER

Why join our committee? Here are some reasons!

CRISTIN TCHIR
Recreation Coordinator

The Recreation Committee is seeking new members to join us. I know what you're thinking, "I'm way too busy for anything extra in my life right now"! I get it, seriously though, it's not a lot of commitment. If you're on the Recreation Committee you're on the Canada Day Committee. Meetings are once a month, we meet on the same days, and both meetings combined are usually an hour and a half out of your month. There is some volunteer commitment, but very little.

So why join a committee in the first place?

You get your say, that's a big one, don't like how things are done? Then join a committee and make a change.

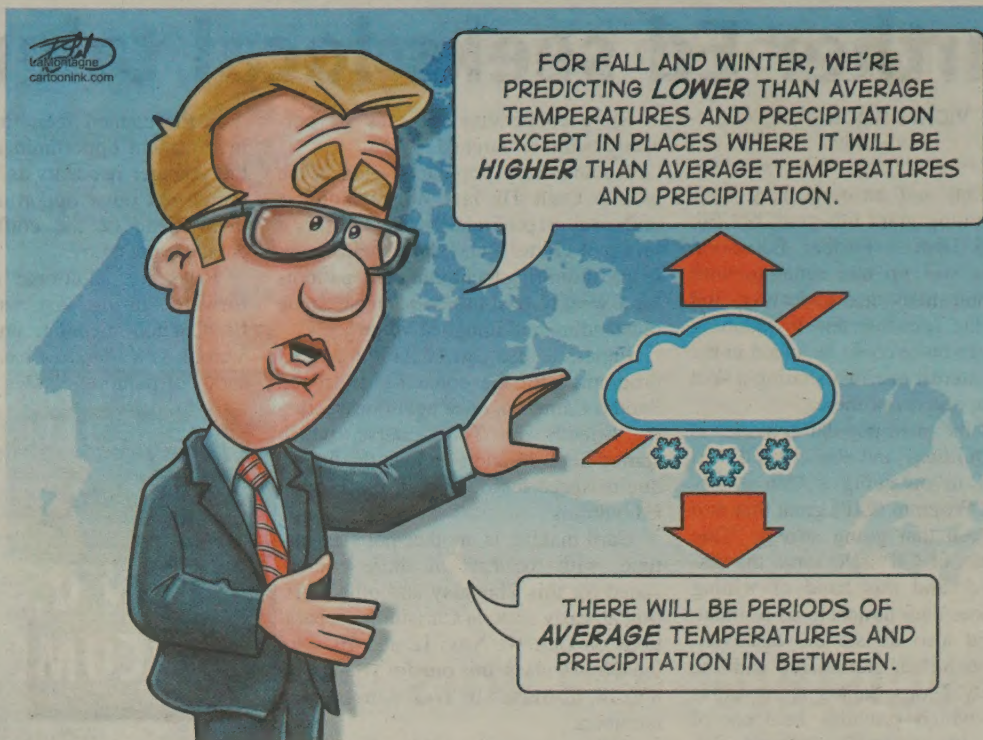

Pay it forward, oh yes, the feeling of doing something good for your community is priceless.

Meet new people, even if you grew up in a small town, like myself there's always someone you don't know.

It looks good on a resume. Young people listen up, employers like to see this.

New experiences. Get out of that comfort zone! Finally, it's fun!

If you are interested in joining the Recreation Committee, send me an email recreation@elkpoint.ca. I look forward to meeting with you!

WAY BACK WHEN...

River water, town by-election, fall graduation, Further Education

HERE'S THE NEWS THAT MADE THE HEADLINES OF THE LAKELAND REVIEW AND ELK POINT REVIEW FOR THE WEEK OF SEPT. 30 IN...

1984

Pan Canadian Petroleum Ltd. took an option on 10.69 acres of land in the industrial park, with plans to build an office building, warehouse and outdoor storage yard, the project estimated at $750,000. Elk Point Minor Hockey president John Yakemchuk, secretary Stella Lorensen and treasurer Doreen Younghans were returned by acclamation, with fees set at $20 for Tom Thumbs and Mites and $25 for Peewees and older.

1989

Elk Point received approval to pump water from the North Saskatchewan River, rather than from Hook Lake, into the town's raw water reservoir, resulting in what Mayor Bruce Kleeberger called "the most treatable water we have had for years." For just over 20 hours, it appeared that Elk Point would have an election, but just before the deadline, incumbent Steve Shmyr and newcomer Mike Glover withdrew from the race, leaving Alvina Schuhmacher, Allan Frankiw, Morris Cooper, Adele Mandryk and Lawrence Pidluzny to be elected by acclamation as a shorthanded council.

1994

Town council called a by-election after Coun. Vern King resigned, leaving only three councillors, due to resignations by Betty Callbeck and Lawrence Pidluzny earlier in the year. Christian Kittlitz almost needed a pickup truck to haul away 10 awards from F. G. Miller Awards Night, including Academic Honours, top marks in Math 30, Social Studies 30, Physics 30 and Chemistry 30, the Governor General's Bronze Medal, the County of St. Paul High Academic Standing award, the Kates Memorial Scholarship, a Rutherford

Scholarship and the Pan Canadian Petroleum scholarship.

1999

The F. G. Miller Class of 1999 returned for their graduation ceremonies, with valedictorian Dawn Poisson receiving the Governor General's award, the most prestigious award in high school. A total of 47 participants walked, ran, rollerbladed, rode bikes and strolled along the 10-km course at the Terry Fox Run in a record-breaking year that raised $4,843.70 in pledges, with Peggy Maas and family raising $2721 of that amount.

2004

Elk Point Further Education celebrated 30 years of success, with four charter members, Sid Holthe, Irene Miller, Margaret and Lawrence Modin, presented with a small gift in recognition of their efforts over the years on the council's behalf. Parrish Tung said he was "excited, and a little humble" after being elected as Elk Point's new mayor by acclamation, and noting, "It will be a big task."

2004

Elk Point Elementary School kept Terry Fox's dream alive as students and staff turned out in full force for the run, led by flag bearers Kaylee Poitras and Clarissa Gusnowski, both cancer survivors. F. G. Miller High School students were eating better, following an all-out effort on the school's behalf to implement the Healthy Eating Guidelines for Schools set out under the Alberta Nutrition Guidelines for Children and Youths.

2014

Three quotes were received for the new treated water storage facility, and council agreed to award the contract to Superior Concrete Pumping at a cost of $1,417,500. The Stoney Lake Campground received a green and growing update to a portion of its grounds with about 240 new trees and shrubs planted at the western wing of the park, where the trees by the lake open up onto pasture, to beautify and restore the area that had been bare of all but minimal foliage for the previous few years, after a windstorm damaged and destroyed many of the trees.

Library seeks volunteers

VICKI BROOKER
Review Staff

Elk Point Municipal Library is operating on a shoestring budget this year, and with only one assistant for one day a week and a work experience student to help out, library manager Daphne Schnurer is looking for volunteers.

Volunteers can do "lots of different jobs... picking and returning books and DVDs for interlibrary loans, shelving, learning the computer program and even helping with the purchase of books by shopping online," she said, as examples. Someone to read to preschoolers at a weekly or biweekly storytime or to help put on PD day programs for elementary age children would also be a possibility.

The library has enjoyed a steady stream of visitors throughout September, with the annual book sale proving popular, but there are lots of books left to go, even now there's the opportunity to fill a bag for $5, with today and tomorrow, Oct. 2, the final days to stock up on reading material for the winter months, and everything from hardcover novels and non-fiction to a new donation of cookbooks and shelves filled with paperback romances left to choose from.

Next Wednesday, Oct. 7, is the date for the monthly Library Tea, starting at 2 p.m., and you never know, some of those books might have turned into pumpkins by then if nobody takes them home!

LIBRARY MANAGER Daphne Schnurer introduces her two-year-old granddaughter Brooke to the Krayon Kiosk, a computer game designed for preschoolers.

Registered electors should receive their card by October 4

ELECTIONS CANADA

Elections Canada is mailing a personalized voter information card to each registered elector. The card tells electors when and where to vote and has information about the accessibility of their polling station.

Electors who do not receive a card by Friday, October 4, or whose card shows the wrong information, can register or update their address online or by contacting their Elections Canada office.

Electors should contact the Elections Canada office in their electoral district if:

- the name on their card contains an error
- they receive a voter information card for a deceased person or someone who does not live at their address

If, due to unforeseen circumstances, like a fire or a flood, the location of a poll changes after the voter information cards are mailed, the electors assigned to that poll will receive another voter information card with the words "Replacement Card" printed on the bottom right corner.

To vote, electors must show proof of identity and address. The voter information card may be used as a proof of address at the polls. Electors must use it with another piece of accepted ID to prove their identity. View the list of accepted ID.

Electors do not need to bring their voter information card to the polls in order to vote, but we encourage them to bring it with them for faster service at the polls.

We had 25 students compete and our girls categories had runners finish first, second and third in each race respectively,” said Regional High School coach Hank Smid. “Our top three boys finished second, third and fourth, our intermediate boy placing first, and our senior boys placing first, second and third.”

A number of students will now get ready to compete once again at Ross Lake, where the Northeast Alberta Schools Athletic Association zone competition will be held on Oct. 9.

“We are looking forward to having zones at Ross

Lake,” said Smid.

Bengals mangle Bandits 32-21

CHUCK TAYLOR

Review / Contributor

It was a cool breezy afternoon with a few fitful flurries falling Saturday at the Regional High School field as the St. Paul Bengals welcomed the Bonnyville Bandits to 'The Jungle.'

The battle of 2-1 teams, was for second place in the league, and the right to host a first round playoff game. The game however wasn't as close as the score suggests with turnovers being the name of the game. The Bengals took the ball away seven times and did not give up any turnovers.

"It was practice, team work, hard work and dedication not magic that made us win," said Bengals cornerback/wide receiver Sawyer Amos

The game started out fairly even with the Ryan-Fodchuk-led Bengals smashing their way down the field in a 12 play 60-yard drive to go up 6-0 after the first quarter. The Bandits just couldn't get their offence working in the second quarter, but their defence played well. The Bengals took the ball away three times, twice on downs, making the score 12-0 two seconds before the half on another Fodchuk touchdown run.

"We worked very hard, watched film and practiced for what we were expecting. Bonnyville didn't have any surprises for us and it was a team win, both the offence and defence played well but we had difficulties on the special teams. We know what we need to work on," said Bengals head coach Todd Tanasichuk.

The second half started quickly with Bonnyville getting on the board and narrowing the score to 12-7. St. Paul responded by racking up three more touchdowns and taking the ball away four times. The big St. Paul offensive line dominated the line of scrimmage and Ryan McLellan played another solid game at quarterback.

On the defensive side of the ball Connor Balash and Travis McGilvery came up with key interceptions, but the big story was newcomer Hellmon Ndose. Ndose is a recent immigrant from Germany who grew up playing soccer but is adjusting well to football. He, playing defensive end and offensive guard, made key plays including many quarterback hurries, a tackle for a big loss, a sack and a key third down stop that gave the Bengals the ball and ended any momentum the Bandits may have been building.

Bonnyville narrowed the margin with a kickoff return for a touchdown in the late third quarter and a touchdown run against the Bengals backups and rookies in the fourth quarter.

"We know they had some bumps and bruises and some kids playing out of position. We definitely won't be resting on our laurels because they are well coached and will be tougher and better prepared when we face them in the playoffs," said Tanasichuk.

The Bengals travel to Cold Lake next week for a match-up against the Ravens on the new turf at Tom Varghese Field. The Ravens have had a rough season so far going 1-3 with a victory over Vegreville and losses to Bonnyville, Wainwright and Lloydminster. The biggest issue in Cold Lake is the lack of numbers combined with minor injuries bringing their sideline down to 15 to 16 players.

"We hope they don't have to forfeit. The Ravens forfeited the previous two games against Bonnyville and the Lloydminster Red Dogs. They still played jamboree style exhibition games in both cases, so either way we can get our rookies and reserves a lot of playing time."

The Wheatland Bantam Football League believes in family first, taking the Thanksgiving weekend off for all teams. The Bengals next game will be at home in the league semifinal hosting the Bonnyville Bandits at Regional Field Saturday Oct. 19 at 1 p.m.
